Excerpt from The Beef Bonanza: Or, How to Get Rich on the Plains, Being a Description of Cattle-Growing, Sheep-Farming, Horse-Raising, and Dairying in the West

I have been a resident Of the West for twelve years, and my Official duties have called me during that time into nearly every State and Territory between the Missouri and the Pacific Coast. Almost every valley, hill, mountain, and pass of which I have written has been ridden over by me on horseback, and I have Observed everywhere the unbounded capacity Of the West, not only for stock-growing, but farming, mining, and manufacturing. To me the West is a never-ceasing source Of wonder, and I cannot imagine why people remain in the over-crowded East, while so many lands and chances are to the west Of them. The West to-day is not what it was yesterday, and it will not be to morrow what it is today. New discoveries, new developments and improvements are constantly being made, and a new West springing up.
